

Survey title	BIBB/BAuA Youth Employment Survey 2012
DOI	doi:10.7803/301.12.2.1.10
Brief description	This is a representative survey of employed persons, trainees and interns between the ages of 15 and 24 in Germany on work and occupation in transition and the acquisition and utilisation of vocational qualifications.
Survey year	2012
Survey unit	Youth
Thematic focus	Vocational training
Data access options	Scientific-Use-File	(On-Site Use /Remote Data Access); additional variables (for full-text, special or regional variables)
Number of variables ¹	SUF: 428	VT: 37	SV: 9	REG: 3
Population	Employed persons, apprentices and trainees aged 15 to 24 years with a working or training time of at least ten hours per week.
Weight/ extrapolation	Population weight (occupational status, West/East, federal state, education, gender, marital status, German/non-German)
Representative region	German federal states
Number of cases	3.214
Survey procedure	CATI (Computer-assisted telephone interviewing)
Selection process	ADM (further development of the Gabler-Häder method), Kish method
Survey design	Cross section
Remark	The study is a supplementary sample of 2,652 gainfully employed persons and trainees aged 15 to under 25 years to the BIBB/BAuA Employment Survey 2012. The study was - conducted essentially with the same survey instrument and in the same survey period as the main sample.
Links	BIBB-FDZ Metadata Portal: http://metadaten.bibb.de/metadaten Project page: http://www.baua.de/de/Forschung/Forschungsprojekte/f2275.html
Keywords	occupational histories, main activities, skills, qualification requirements, workloads, training needs, employment appropriate to training, occupational changes, skills development, young people, trainees, working conditions and work requirements

¹ In each case without personal/spear identification.